

Computer Group Policy

The new Computer Group Policy redirects your Documents, Pictures, and Favorites Libraries to your network H:\drive. The primary benefit of this is network drives are backed up nightly and your files will be protected against any possible failure of your local hard drive. This policy DOES NOT copy existing files from your local C:\ drive to the network location. Should you wish to move your files from your local drive to your network drive then you must do so manually. Should you require assistance with this, please email itservicesdesk@mtroyal.ca.

This is what Windows Explorer will look like after the Computer Group Policy has been applied.
